[There is no required uniform. However, there is a uniform code established by the National MCL and published in the Bylaws, Enclosure 2 on the National website for those members who wish to purchase uniform items.]

Commandant stated that recruiting was every member's responsibility. Posters, postcards and membership applications were made available to all attendees. The key to successful recruiting is to become known in the community as a group. Posters and business cards will provide visibility to the public.

There being no further business, Commandant requested members stand in silent respect for deceased Marines and their families.
